Damian Schai is a Partner and heads the IP & IT practice group. He advises companies and individuals in all areas of intellectual property law and represents them in court. A focus of his work is the protection, defense, and enforcement of trademarks worldwide. He has extensive experience in other intellectual property and related disciplines, such as copyright, personal, name and company law, unfair competition law, IT law, and data protection.

Damian Schai's work has numerous points of contact with the Life Sciences and Health Law practice area, particularly in the form of license and research and development agreements. In addition, he can draw on a wealth of experience in civil procedure law and employment law, which he gained as a court clerk and in numerous court proceedings as a lawyer. These diverse experiences result in his holistic advisory approach.
